Summary

I am a graduate in computer programming and I am currently interested in working as a front-end web developer. I have experience in programming languages such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript. I am also working on improving my skills in technologies such as React, Next.js, and MongoDB. I have completed one project, a website I made for my friends which can be found at <https://www.armaturkbirlikleri.me/>. For now, I want to focus on improving my skills in web development. My goal is to develop more advanced web and mobile applications.
